Format - Candidates will have 90 seconds to answer questions asked of them. The moderator reserves the right to ask follow-up questions and to extend the time as warranted. All registrants for today's forum were given the opportunity to propose a question to the candidates. Questions you hear today are taken from those provided by registrants. Audio and video for today's event will be made available at one or more of the websites listed below approximately one week after today's event.

City for All is a broad-based coalition dedicated to ensuring an Atlanta with housing affordable for all. City for All will educate and mobilize citizens to press for legislation and resources which effectively address the urgent need for access to quality affordable homes. We will focus on gaining support for our platform from current elected officials and candidates in the 2017 City of Atlanta elections and beyond.

The TransFormation Alliance's member organizations and agencies are dedicated to ensuring that opportunities and benefits provided by investment in transit communities are made available to ALL residents – present and future. The TransFormation Alliance, a diverse group of organizations representing government agencies, business partners, metro Atlanta's transit agencies, and the nonprofit community.

Candidate Survey on Affordable Housing

The next mayor of Atlanta will inherit an increasingly untenable situation – housing affordability in the city. A rebounding housing market, booming luxury rental development, gentrifying neighborhoods, negative equity, and a vanishing supply of affordable housing all combine to paint a serious picture for low- and moderate-income families.

To understand what positions Atlanta mayoral candidates have on affordable housing issues, the City for All Housing Coalition and the TransFormation Alliance conducted a comprehensive survey. To see a summary or the complete survey, visit either of the websites listed below.
